I feel your lips

I taste your skin

I need to know

I need to feel you from within

As your blood burns through my skin

I feel complete

I breathe you in

It's where you end and I begin

If only I could stay here...forever

So much to tell you

So much to confide

Now that I'm inside you

We are flesh

We are one

So why do I feel so much guilt for what I've done?

As your blood burns through my skin

I feel release

I breathe you in

It's where you end and I begin

If I could only stay here...forever

So much to tell you

So much to give you

So much to confide

Now that I'm inside you
