Come here and taste me
She says to him
His war with patience
He does not win
So he invites her to stay a while
She feeds addiction and he takes her with a smile...
And he says "baby can we just be friends?"
"And Moderate this everyday relationship we have?"
She says "No, you fool, now your life is mine...
there is no running, there is nowhere to hide..."

Is this what you wanted? Or have you just lost control?
Fight the urge to make the greatest mistake of all
When you've reached the bottom
Know that I'll still understand

She slides her hand down across the chair
She whispers these words to ease his fears...
"Invite sensation, with no regret, and this complication will be the greatest yet"

Is this what you wanted? Or have you just lost control?
Fight the urge to make the greatest mistake of all
When you've reached the bottom
Know that I'll still understand

And someday you may wake up and find out your life had a purpose you never expected
So lets not cut it short, and live on...
