The lights in your room keep on blinking off
And I'm on my back on your floor
Tell me how you fooled the world again
I like how you laugh when you tell it

Play dead 'cause I'll be playing dead with you
I'll play you when you're dead in a year or two

Can you please point me to your chemicals?
I need to feel like I've got the rocks in my eyelids
The only superhero I've ever known was you
About five years ago, it was you about five years ago

The lights outside turn into knives on me
And I forget how to get home
It only feels like it's the summer now
'Cause everyone's always wearing the wrong clothes

Oh, play dead 'cause I'll be playing dead with you
I'll play you when you're dead in a year or two

Can you please point me to your chemicals?
I need to feel like I've got the rocks in my eyelids
The only superhero I've ever known was you
About five years ago, it was you about five years ago

I can picture your coffin in the hallway
And your family standing inside the doorway
They'll point all their fingers at me and say

Where are your drugs? Today we need them
Where are your drugs? We need an escape
Where are your drugs? Today we need them
Where are your drugs? We need an escape

Can you please point me to your chemicals?
I need to feel like I've got the rocks in my eyelids
The only superhero I've ever known was you
About five years ago, was you about five years ago

Where are your drugs? Today we need them
Where are your drugs? We need your escape

Where are your drugs? Today we need them
Where are your drugs? We need your escape

Where are your drugs? Today we need them
Where are your drugs?
