

Armor for Sleep "Hold The Door"

There's plenty of space for me in the back of your car
I can move all your things around
We're standing alone on a side of the road
Till I saw your headlights catch me

I keep to myself on the right
Trying hard to hide all the dirt that covers me
You only can hide who you are
If you don't care where you're going anyway

I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you again
I don't wanna see through the eyes of a lion
Hold the door for me

I set them on fire back then
They didn't know what hit them
It's always the ones you never suspect
Don't wanna accept what I've become

I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you again
I don't wanna see through the eyes of a lion
So, hold the door for me

I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you again
I don't wanna see through the eyes of a lion
Hold the door for me, for me

Don't wanna take the wheels for you
Just keep on driving, keep on driving
Just tell me what you want me to do
Just keep on driving, keep on driving

I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you
I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you

I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you again

I don't wanna see through the eyes of a lion
So, hold the door for me

I don't wanna be who I was back then
I almost lost you again
I don't wanna see through the eyes of a lion
Hold the door for me, hold the door for me, for me
