written by John Wayne Wiggins

Woke up this morning with a smile on my face

I can't believe your memory didn't keep me awake

My heart's not beating the missing you blues

And my eyes ain't crying for you

All those wasted nights I've sat and cried

Waiting for you knowing that you wouldn't come by

I look back and laugh at the fool I've been

I'll never set foot in them shoes again

This must be what falling out of love feels like

I don't mind if I do

Feeling like I don't care feels real nice

I don't toss and turn with your memory all night

Must be what falling out of love feels like

I don't jump when the telephone rings

Don't pace the floor, pull my hair and scream

I eat a lot better with an appetite

And sleep comes easy at night

I got no problems, there ain't nothing wrong

As a matter of fact I never felt so strong

I feel like shouting out I'm over you

I think I'll call my Momma up and tell her the news

This must be what falling out of love feels like

I don't mind if I do

Feeling like I don't care feels real nice

Saying it's over, knowing I'm right

Must be what falling out of love feels like
