And how many times have I been here
And how many times I'd be lost
And how many times I'd be drowning in the sea
If you weren't there to rescue me

We're sailing
Sailing every night
We're drifting
Drifting alone apart
Not to show that we're in need but I'd heal your wounds
if you bleed

And how many times have I hurt you
And how many times have you
And how many times have I'd been on my knees begging
Begging, "Please forgive me"

We're sailing
Sailing every night
We're drifting
Drifting alone apart
Not to show that we're in need but I'd heal your wounds
if you bleed

Thank you for being so patient with me
I've been weaker than I ought to be Despair and jealousy blinded my mind
And I couldn't see how you're trying for me
