"Reading Your Fables"

I've been searching
I've been hiding like a pilgrim
new sun rising I've been drowning in your river trying to be a true believer I've been reading all your fables turning over every table making peace with Cain & Abel somehow I still feel unstable but I can't lie, your truth lives in my heart and I'm not blind I see one face in the dark

I was digging
I was dreaming crucifying every meaning tightrope walking on cathedrals acrobatics over hell I was kneeling on my altar but your termites have good teeth and when you silenced all my parties me & Judas kept on dancing
