"The Beauty Of Blood"

tears shatter as they fall 1000 crystals to split the light the beauty of the rainbow to mask the blood that stains the ground vision blurs and the ground shakes children cry in their mother's arms a flower can't drink from parched land they drink the blood that stains the ground the beauty of blood is in us all the beauty of blood eats away at my soul i've watched you die a thousand times a thousand more and it still would be beautiful you're beautiful to me
