Now that I'm without you, with myself, I don't know what to do

I'm thinking thinking about what we had

Dreaming about a time that's past, when we thought

Our thing would last. I'm thinking thinking about what we had

Oh I miss you, I need to kiss you

To ease my pain, I'm the one to blame.

It's sad but it's true, the pain I put you through

The hurt I stored in you still lingers

I let love slip right through my fingers

Now that I'm without you, with myself, I don't know what to do

I'm thinking thinking about what we had

Dreaming about a time that's past, when we thought

Our thing would last. I'm thinking thinking about what we had

Oh I look back, I see my failure

I was too free, because you were my responsibility

Afraid I'd lose more than a friend, but this is not the first time

I stumbled on a treasure that I passed by, somewhere in the Middle of hello and goodbye

Now that I'm without you, with myself, I don't know what to do

I'm thinking thinking about what we had

Dreaming about a time that's past, when we thought

Our thing would last. I'm thinking thinking about what we had

Thinking, about the time we spent together

Thinking, that we'd shine through to better weather

Thinking, about the problems we had

Thinking, now I made you so sad

Thinking, how you wanted to be free

What would it be like if you were me.

Now that I'm without you, with myself, I don't know what to do

I'm thinkin' thinkin' about what we had

Dreamin' about a time that's past, when we thought

Our thing would last. I'm thinkin' thinkin' about what we had

I'm hurting, I'm hurting. . .

Dreaming of a time that's past, our love would last

Now that I'm without you. .
