I see your face and my heart skips a beat
And then this feeling just consumes me
I want to hold you tightly in my arms
And make you understand so you'll see
I love you so
And if your sunshine turned to rain
Oh I'd be there - to ease the pain
But all these thought's remain in my mind
And you don't know 'cos it's a secret

Each new dawning brings the morning into my room
But - there's never any sunshine
And when I look around the dream has gone
That we made love and you said you were mine
Never let me go
That's why I have to live my life through
Just pretending that - you love me too
Just couldn't take it if you turned me down
So you don't know 'cos it's a secret
