Duende

The ending of a dynasty
You turn into eternity
In love and loaded agony we dwell

As the fallen angel down below
By reasons that I'll never know
I can't believe that you were such a liar

As the world will turn
And bridges have been burned
I will arise
As you will fade away

And of the gloom
This is the doom
How could you ever dare to mess with the temper of the gods

Everytime you lie to me
In everything you said
Everytime you cry for me
I wish that you were dead

Steal these pearls I she'd in pain
As you really let me down
You killed the dream, a dream in vain
When you tried to steal my crown

Only the lord in heaven knows
Why you became the thief
The nights are black and cold as those (richard: ingressing in my dreams) / (wiz: who caress me in my dreams)

As the world will turn
And bridges have been burned
I will arise
As you will fade away

And of the gloom
This is the doom
How could you ever dare to mess with the temper of
the gods

Everytime you lie to me
In everything you said
In everything you said
Everytime you cry for me
I wish that you were dead

Armageddon will soon be here
The sinners will meet their fate
But I am calm and without fear
As I feed upon my hate

Everytime you lie to me
In everything you said
I wish that you were dead
Duende

Everytime you lie to me
In everything you said
Everytime you cry for me
I wish that you were dead
I wish that you were dead

Everytime you lie to me
In everything you said
