I bought a big black coat to keep the cold times out and collected some wood and built a roaring fire I got to thinking about the things that drive me to tears but it takes a better man than I'll ever be...

I bought a big black book to write my whole life down and held my head each day with frozen hands

no one to look my best for
no one to wash my hair for but if I were a bullet
then for sure I'd find a way to your heart

I was to be your champion
your champion
your champion

I bought a big black box to keep my poor heart in oh, it has to be me
it has to be me

how I plan to say so much how I plan to do so much
but it takes a better man than I'll ever be...

oh you, take the devil's hand so I'll take the emptiness

then for sure I'd find a way to your heart

your champion
