Those who are different From you and your way of living.
Get you really scared. And when you see these people
it looks like if you had shit stuck up your fucking nose, Disgust all over your face.

They should have no part in your society,
blacks, homosexuals and punks.
If you could decide there would never exist any of their fucking kind. Who are you to judge them can't you let them live their lives.
The way they want The way they please. Not everyone can be like you.

Those who are different From you and your way of living.
Get you really scared. And when you see these people
it looks like if you had shit stuck up your fucking
nose, Disgust all over your face.
They should have no part in your society,
blacks, homosexuals and punks.
If you could decide there would never exist any of their fucking kind. Your eyes are too close together to see anything or anyone else except for yourself and your asshole. Thats how big your world is.
