standing concrete form and concrete smile
small children poking me in the eyes i'm having too much fun in bed with myself (wooh) it hit me that...

how many good people are
deceiving me right now? i think about it too much america's number one statistical faux pas (wooh, wooh)

by my volition
by my volition

deceiving me right now?
i think about it like
backwards voices and bad t.v. programming i'm drawn to life like the klan are to minority

it's something i don't want to see chromatically declining me

it's so hard to wake up when your mind and body aches and your dick's in your hand you begin to count with you fingers about

deceiving me right now?
it's something i don't want to see
