we've got our peace of mind

so revolute today
i'd say anything to you to steal your best feeling feeling sensible tonight funny you're still growing and knowing i'm all right

who needs to know about rejection when all you've ever done is fight this energy that's so new i want to name it after you

100 ways i think about 100 ways i care for good dreams i share with you brings luck for two
good dreams i share with you justify everything we do

so revolute today

i could have sworn you said it was all about killing time we both knew it was time to wait the wait is killing me the daily fear that keeps me going, pushing, scraping you know i know i slip my tongue in your... you needn't remind me

consider points you've made of premature philosophy farce comes first nothing's worse than a finger pointed close your eyes

not too tight

listen
and remember

about my introversion
it's my illusion
to be what i am
