

Terence

"The Rain"

Visit "The Rain" on MotoLyrics.com all the rain that's been stored up is pouring down on me all my land was dry and now it has become a sea all the rain is acid and it burns

I can feel the strong foundations slowly giving way ask the gods why could the clouds not break another day let me find my home when I return it's rising, I'm drowning I can't stay there's so much I have to leave behind me from a hillside I can see the damage that it's done everything I knew as home was here and now it's gone can't go back to places I was young still rising, stil climbing I have to survival, the only way is up be careful what you wish for 'cause wishes can come true and when they do the only thing they change is you the change is you

the change is you

Visit Terence page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.