"She Knows"

She knows how to make me feel alright
She knows how to hold me through the night
she knows
oh she knows

Winter but she still makes it feel like may storming out but it still is a sunny day She wont have anything happen
She wont have anything wrong

Every time I see her she takes me to that special place

She knows how to make me feel alright
She knows how to hold me through the night
she knows
oh she knows

Got the place but she never has the time A poet but she is the reason to my rhyme she's heard that everybody wants her

She's heard correct boys fall for her just like a domino I've been pushed but I haven't fallen though I wont have anything happen
I wont have anything wrong

She knows how to make me feel alright
She knows how to hold me through the night
she knows
oh she knows
She knows how to push me the right way
Not to hard but it makes me want to stay
she knows
oh she knows

Always talk about even though my friends say its to much now
Always write about her until my hand reaches the bone again
