Shadows play on the snow
Gently moonlight casts its glow
Close your eyes, stars appear
When you wake up we will be far from here
There's a promise we're to keep
I will drive while you sleep
While you sleep
And the windshield bares a crack
From where you punch it there's a map
We take on stones, bare our stars
Cheating corners, passing cars
The road is winding, sometimes steep
But I will drive while you sleep
While you sleep
When you wake tomorrow will be nearer
Dawn will break and the road will be much clearer
All our sadness is in the rearview mirror
And there's a place where your eyes go
When you're singing to the radio
Sure as tomorrow will begin today
We can go there but we can't stay
There's promise that I can keep
I will drive, I will drive, I will drive
While you sleep, while you sleep
While you sleep, while you sleep
