Nobody ever said this would be easy
with my eyes on the lines
I swear that I will find
Where I Belong

It started out real slow like a rain on a dreary day when its hot and the clouds are low and your miles from home
I never should have gone this way I started to look back saw the world in my rear view mirror i gotta get back on track when the skies look black strike a match and clear up the night sky
never losing sight

Nobody ever said this would be easy
with my eyes on the lines
I swear that I will find
Where I Belong
With a promise of a new direction
I'll right the wrongs that I made in life
Now I will find
Where I belong

Into the sunset we went with no real goal but I've got a feeling that there's a promised land where the streets are filled with gold forever in paradise drinking down all the finest wine where all of the lovin's right and the skies alive with a brighter shade of blue with spots of white yellow sunshine light

Nobody ever said this would be easy

I swear that I will find
Where I Belong
With a promise of a new direction
I'll right the wrongs that I made in life
Now I will find
Where I belong

Where am I going
Where have I been (8X)

Nobody ever said this would be easy
Where I belong.
