When I walk among the hills, I can hear you
When I walk among the hills, I feel near you
When I walk among the hills
When I walk among the hills

As I watch the waves crash in, I can reach you
When I watch the seas roll on, I feel near you
When I watch the waves crash in
And when I watch the seas roll on

When night clouds the evening skies, I don't fear you
In the darkness there's no lie, I feel near you
When night clouds the evening skies
In the darkness there's no lie
When I watch the waves crash in
And when I walk among the hills

We're all here, all here now
All here, it's all here now
We're all here, all here now
In this passing choir of seasons
Turning round the sun

There's a path that reaches up
Higher than the trees
And it follows me alone
Where this song is falling on the breeze
Clouds go rushing overhead
Rain on my days
Washing me away
Winter turns to calm
And the summer lights upon her face

When I walk among the hills
When I walk among the hills
