I'm drowning in your silence
A death much worse than violence
And I can feel you slowly drift apart
So these are left behind us
With only ghost to remind us
Of a time when our love was still alive

There will be blood
Flowing from my broken heart
There will be blood
Flowing from my broken heart
There will be blood

I'm dying on the inside
But hide it on the outside
You'll never know how much it's killing me
They tell me I'll survive this
In time I will get through this
But you can never see what's inside me

There will be blood
Flowing from my broken heart
There will be blood
Flowing from my broken heart
There will be blood
(There will be blood)
There will be blood
(There will be blood)
There will be blood

I'm dying on the inside
But hide it on the outside
You'll never know how much it's killing me

There will be blood
Flowing from my broken heart
There will be blood
Flowing from my broken heart
There will be blood
Like a river from my broken heart
There will be blood

(There will be blood)
There will be blood
(There will be blood)
There will blood

There will be blood
There will be blood
