We got locked away,
In a place where we don't speak,
A place where we can meet each other's ghosts.

We got locked away,
In a place where nothing's real,
Where we can see the sun but all we feel is cold.

Cause we've got love in a different disguise,
I'm feeling alive.
I'm feeling alive.
Cause we've got love in a different disguise,
I'm feeling so alive.

And it's you.
You've got me running running round my own head.
You've got me chasing stars that seem too far, to ever
catch.

We got locked away,
On an island in the sea,
A place where we can dream about the good old days.

But we're almost home,
To a place where I can see,
Where we can find our feet and all we see is gold.

Cause we've got love in a different disguise,
I'm feeling alive.
I'm feeling alive.
Cause we've got love in a different disguise,
I'm feeling so alive.

And it's you.
You've got me running running round my own head.
You've got me chasing stars that seem too far, to ever catch.

[x2]

We'll get back up, even if this takes forever.

[x6]

Even if this takes forever...

And it's you.

You've got me running running round my own head.

You've got me chasing stars that seem too far, to ever
catch.
