As you gain awareness and search for what is beyond
The light within brightens your path to contentment
I swear this fire won't burn
Skies screech bereave this universe

Know that you will find your own truth
Your own path, in your own way
Be free of material, free yourself
Only true awareness comes from within Comes from within

I swear this fire won't burn
Skies screech bereave this universe
There is a plan for all in this world of reason
That you must find, that only you can find
You have a mission that is your own
It is your duty to seek it out

I'll be there to guide you through (The troubled times ahead)
Seek to awaken your heart

Hold on, hold on
The light within brightens
Your path to contentment
I swear this fire won't burn
Skies screech bereave this universe
There is a plan for all in this world of reason
That you must find
