Staring through every window
Staring till the glass does break
Hiding on the mountainside
Descend the cliffs and let me see your face

When the doors to the streets are closed
And the sound of the grinding fades
When men rise up like birds
And all their songs grow faint

Dark am I
Dark am I
Dark am I
Yet lovely
[x2]

Staring through every window
Staring till the glass does break
Hiding on the mountainside
Descend the cliffs and let me see your face

When the doors to the streets are closed
And the sound of the grinding fades
When men rise up like birds
And all their songs grow faint

Dark am I
Dark am I
Dark am I
Yet lovely
[x7]
