I've been sleeping since day one
Never thought of what I've done
Never took the chance to leave

Everywhere I turn to run
I see the bridges that I've burned
And smell the smoke from far away

Part of me will remain
Part of me will never change
But everything must have an end

You know what it feels like
Show me what it feels like
When you have seen it all
When you're untouchable to them

Hand me stones to break these walls
Hold my hand before I fall
Save your lips for one last kiss

They stole my hands, my right to speak
My dusty lungs, my right to bleed
But I can never let them win

Crash and burn, this is it
Buildings falls in front of me
Turn to run or stay alone

You know what it feels like
Show me what it feels like
When you have seen it all
When you're untouchable
Hand me your illusion
Give me your religion
And I will change it all for you
Just for you

You know what it feels like
Show me what it feels like
You know what it feels like

What it feels like

You know what it feels like
Show me what it feels like
When you have seen it all
When you're untouchable
Hand me your illusion
Give me your religion
And I will change it all for you
Just, just for you
