I think that love this is strange
I thought I found it one day
Turns out, it was only one sided
Now I have a broken heart
Thought I was the only one
Wouldn't I know it?
I'm in the same boat with everyone

We all break down
We all move on
We all know this tune or at least we've heard it before
We're all lonely
We're all bitter
We all sing along

I think that life is strange
We all go our separate ways
Somehow, we can all relate
This war has waged for far too long
Can't we all just get along?
But hey, the world doesn't work that way

We all break down
We all move on
We all know this tune or at least we've heard it before
We're all lonely
We're all bitter
We all sing along

Is it too cliché
To think that one day
We could put our differences aside?
Is it possible
That in a future world
We can eliminate the hate?

We all break down
We all move on
We all know this tune or at least we've heard it before
We're all lonely
We're all bitter

We all sing along

We all sing along
