Oh here comes the heartache, here comes the pain
Here comes the teardrops, falling down like rain
She was my baby, my everything
There goes the woman, the woman of my dreams

She's making plans with someone new They're holding hands, like we used to
She wears a smile, like I've never seen
There goes the woman, the woman of my dreams

Her old love letters, I read 'til dawn
If I loved her better, would she still be gone?
I yearn for the days, when she wore my ring
There goes the woman, the woman of my dreams

Here comes the heartache, here comes the pain
And there goes the woman, the woman of my dreams
There goes the woman, the woman of my dreams
