So you say that it's over
Think again I've got news for you
Broken wings on my shoulders
Carry me through the darkness

I've seen the signs they're all around me
What's left behind was not my fate
I'm letting go of chains that bind me
The time is now who cares what they say

I've seen the signs
When everything's broken
I feel like I've lost my mind
I've got to let go
But each time I try it all falls apart
I leave behind the one who has carried
Me through this fire
I know this time I'm tired of running
I'm giving it all to you

So they say that they love you
Guess again cause they sold you out
Broken arms cannot hold you
When they're not even trying

I've seen the signs their all around me
What's left behind was not my fate
I'm letting go of chains that bind me
The time is now who cares what they say

To you

Please give me the strength
The strength that I need
The strength so I can

Let it go

No more falling
I'm letting Go
Who cares what they say
