

Thompson Twins, The "Breakaway"

Visit "Breakaway" on MotoLyrics.com

The moon shines cold with ice tonight
And I can see your face now in the violet light
And though you're a thousand miles away
I can hear you clearly
I hear every word you say

I just can't breakaway
No matter how I try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mine anyway

I have dreams that I don't understand
They're all tangled up like your hair in my hands
And though you're a thousand miles away
I can see you clearly
I feel every breath you take

I just can't breakaway
No matter how I try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mine anyway

The moon strikes fear in hearts of men

And I thought I would never see your face again
And though you're a thousand miles away
I can hear you clearly
I tremble with every word you say

I just can't breakaway
No matter how I try
I just can't get away
I just can't find no peace of mine anyway

Visit Thompson Twins, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.