I'm wide awake and I can't help but think about those days
Where I could sleep at night, those were the best of times
All our friends were singing every word of every song we'd write

I can't change, people telling me it's just a phase
But I don't think they're right
They're stuck in their fake lives

And I'd rather be real
And just say how I feel
Than wear a disguise

These days come and go so fast
Wish that we could make them last
When everyone keeps preaching change
Some things need to stay the same, the same

Let's go out tonight
Like we've been doing for years
And throw our cares away for a new day
Cause tonight we can't forget all our
Fears and our problems until we solve them

I can't take every minute of every day
While these opportunities pass
They can kiss my ass
We'll keep on trying even if we're dying
And we won't look back

These days come and go so fast
Wish that we could make them last
When everyone keeps preaching change
Some things need to stay the same, the same

Let's go out tonight
Like we've been doing for years
And throw our cares away for a new day
Cause tonight we can't forget all our

Fears and our problems until we solve them

Throw your cares away for a new day

(Throw your cares)

Throw your cares away for a new day

(For a new day)

Throw your cares away for a new day

(We can throw 'em away)

Throw your cares away, we can throw 'em away

Throw them away!

Let's go out tonight

Like we've been doing for years

And throw our cares away for a new day

Cause tonight we can't forget all our

Fears and our problems until we solve them

Out tonight

Like we've been doing for years

And throw our cares away for a new day

Cause tonight we can't forget all our

Fears and our problems until we solve them
