We mourn the pale and listless
It's half past corpse o'clock Praise the sick, hail the twisted Sell your soul it's time to rock Let's celebrate our life's failures
That we are forced to repeat Breed the bastard despite the knowledge That with flesh comes deceit
With a blind oath to madness we are forced to rebel Wearing a badge of our shame let's starve for the devil!

How long I have tried to separate my guilt from all of my lies
How long you have tried to see beyond the emptiness of my eyes
A curse to grant your wishes
When it's half past corpse o'clock Realize your reason's twisted Starve your soul, it's time to rot
Let's forget ever moment
For human life is frail
And all I know for certain Is that the mirror shows us hell
With a blind oath to madness we are forced to rebel Wearing a badge of our shame let's starve for the devil!

How long I have tried to separate my guilt from all of my lies
of my eyes
The blindness of our eyes and the madness that it brings
The seven whispers are silent as a carcass choir sings

[Solo: Nick]

How long I have tried to separate my guilt from all of my lies
How long have you tried to see beyond the emptiness of my eyes?
