Do I just go?

Thought that they might follow you
Through locked doors and alleys, too
To anyplace you've called your own
They're watching from the shrubs alone

They got in

They know that you're horrible
They know that you're horrible
They know that you're horrible
They know that you're horrible

Thought that you might get a break
Get a job and maybe save

And I thought on this hiding place
On their shallow graves
Thought that you might get away... from us

But we know that you're horrible
We know that you're horrible
We know that you're horrible
We know that you're horrible

It is a trap
It is a cage
A sterile place
An empty place
So walk away

I thought some people saw me

Cut it out
Show us the pieces
In parts and clubs
In halves that shift in length
A crystal lake so clear that you can see what's crawling
on its bottom

On its bottom
On its bottom
On its bottom
On its bottom

[radio plays in the background]
