I hope you will see me tomorrow
I hope I can see you today
I hope to be the one you call the father of your son
And I hope in my arms you will lay.

I hope I will see you tomorrow
I hope you will see me today
I hope to be the one to see you when the morning sun
Rises up and caresses your face

I hope you will be here tomorrow
Then I'll hope to have another day
And when that day is gone I'll pray to have another one
Up until my dying day

Tell me is it clear
Can your heart hear
What do you see here

My soul laid bare

I hope you will see me tomorrow
I hope you will see me today
Can I hold you as the one who will be my only one
One who won't run away

Tell me is it clear
Can your heart hear
What do you see here
My soul laid bare

I hope I will see you tomorrow
I hope I will see you today
There's no other in the world to be the mother of my girl
And I hope in your arms I will lay.

I hope you will see me tomorrow
I hope I will see you today And I hope,,
