Started a conversation with a randomest girl, at the club
Light gleam eyes, smooth skin and a beautiful curve
I quickly doubted the words, this girl was trying to get me to leave The music was loud and she decided that she'd rather leave I began to say goodbye and that's when she grabbed me by the hand She walked me out of the club and asked if I could walk her to her car She asked if I had any place or anywhere I needed to be I said not anymore baby as long as it's just you and me.

She said to "get in the backseat, to lay down and close my eyes, she said she'll take her time.
And that she'll lead the way
