"Save A Place"

When the cloud over your mind
Finally breaks and rains to remind
You of me covering you
That's when the light comes crashing through

So I'll keep away and save a place for you
And I'll only make the same mistakes as you

When you stop hitting the wall
It's not the plaster that ruined this all
When all the blood all over your fingers

Is drying up, the pain will still linger

So I'll keep away and save a place for you
And I'll only make the same mistakes as you

Scream until you smile
But I'm the only one who hears

When you wake up to the sound
Of a thousand voices around
Can you hear the rattle of words
It only takes a heart to be heard
