Well, in the park I sat down with my love
And not a thing was wrong
Oh, the sun shone down from up above
And not a thing was wrong

And I go to where our voices paired
And leapt from off the stone
And that's the voice that I still hear
Whenever I sing alone, alone
Whenever I sing alone

Well, not many a thought did I abide
Nor was I help when things went wrong
At the cemetery by your graveside
Now everything is wrong

And I go to where our voices paired
And leapt from off the stone
And that's the voice that I still hear
Whenever I sing alone, alone
Whenever I sing alone

Well, I know exactly where I'm going
And God knows who I adore
Tho' my prayers did ask to take my pain
I wish I could've taken yours much more

And I go to where our voices paired
And leapt from off the stone
And that's the voice that I still hear
Whenever I sing alone, alone
Whenever I sing alone

Phoenix Park in summertime
Gathering by day and night
By the hearth in wintertime
Gathering just to say goodbye
