Together we can beat those feelings alright
I'm sure no one's gonna show up for the fight
We'll just stand here, shaking, writing on the walls

And though you know for sure that this is the night
No one's gonna turn up and make things right
We'll just stand here, beating on the walls

Joy and pain switching lanes, so so lame
We gotta find something that moves us tonight, baby
We gotta find something that proves that we're right,
baby

Hey tell me, have you heard the latest news
No one's gonna win and no one will lose
We'll just sit here, waiting, staring at the walls

You might as well sit down and take off your shoes
Cause no one's gonna win and no one will lose
We'll just sit here waiting, waiting for a call

Joy and pain switching lanes, so so lame
We gotta find something that moves us tonight, baby
We gotta find something that proves that we're right,
baby

This is the night
We'll make things right make things right...
