I walked right into the room
You're gonna notice me now
Just relax, I'll find us something to drink
Then, we'll talk about life and in a matter of minutes
I've crept a little closer to your heart
Crept a little bit closer

Grow with me, please
I swear I'll build you something
A little bit like love but even more distracting
Grow with me, please
You know we'll make it happen
If not for ourselves, then for the idea that we can if we want

What will your friends think of the mess you've made?
How will the masses feel about our need to relate?
You owe it to yourself to try
I'm gonna make you famous for the way you say
"goodnight"
Now I've crept a little closer to your heart
Crept a little bit closer

Why do I not care more that you're crying?
I don't want to hear anything unless you have a good answer
Well, do you have a good answer?
Why am I not more bothered by you lying?
I don't want to feel anything unless I'm producing results
You're nothing if you don't produce results
