

Tragically Hip, The "Morning Moon"

The Reactor's down I guess for Labour Day Today's the first day I ain't seen the great plume of steam
From across the Lake
From across the Lake
Hey that's a morning moon

I'm not making strange You said someone's paying When something's too cheap somebody's paying something
You said someone's paying something
Under a morning moon

Say those little things that don't make anyone feel better

It didn't take too much to upset her
Nothing that could clear a room

Just say one little thing that could make me feel better
Under this morning moon

The Sun's a lightbulb and the Moon is a mirror There are times when you can see both the bulb and the mirror
See the Bulb in the Mirror
And that's a Morning Moon

Say those little things that don't make anyone feel
better

It doesn't take too much to upset her
It was nothing that could clear a room
Just saying one little thing trying to make you feel better
Under this morning moon
Under this morning moon

Trying to make you feel better
Nothing too far from the truth
