Listen, do you want to know a secret?
I've known it for the past year or two.
We can be anything we want to be
Tell me that it's true
Tell me that it's true

Even the stars are falling for you
Writing their lovesongs in the sky
A couple of stars have fallen down tonight
They are the twinkles in your eyes

This morning without warning
The sunlight on your face
Not a thing had changed
It's so much
And I'm lost and I'm dying for water

This morning without warning
I woke up to your face
You snuck in through the front door
It's not much different
From the dreams and the things we were wishing....for

Even the stars are falling for you
Writing their lovesongs in the sky
A couple of stars have fallen down tonight
They are the twinkles in your eyes
Even the stars are falling for you
Writing their lovesongs in the sky
A couple of kids are celebrating a couple of years in love tonight.
