I gotta patch and wire through
Just to get inside of you
Now I'm reaching back and holding on to what was
Was never there

Then trust without thinking
This trust has opened eyes for

These wires, I finally see you
These wires, have been there always
These wires, and now it's them that burn my eyes
Now we've come so far from home
To finally learn that I'm alone
Don't want to be a part of you

Lead me in your heart with no disguise
I'll paint the memories in red
I know I'm absent from your eyes
But not the thoughts that you will dread

Then trust without thinking
This trust has opened eyes for

These wires, I finally see you
These wires, have been there always
These wires, and now it's them that burn my eyes
Now we've come so far from home
To finally learn that I'm alone
Don't want to be a part of you

Fall away
Leave me in your heart again

Now we've come so far from home
To finally learn that I'm alone
Don't want to be a part of you
