Forgetting how it used to be Always ends in lost memories
Just think right back when you were young
Playing games and enjoying all the fun
In the garden with your favourite toy
Starts to rain and all your was spoilt
Do you remember playing hide and seek
And d'you rememebr that we were so weak

So when our tears flood back and you realise
That your time has flown by
Living out the best parts of your life
Trying not to cry

So why cant it be, like a photograpgh
The same as it used to with no one to hurt you
With one question whats wrong from right
And as time gets much older and your past gets much further Away from you than you'd like
Just kneel down and start to cry

Why cant we sit in baby swings
Having fun and laughing at everything
Being cared for every single day
Being fed by games like aeroplanes
I feel like time is on our side
Through the best and the worst that has gone by Making stories and making up small lies
Was the way to keep our time alive

So when our tears flood back
And you realise that your time has flown by
Living out the best parts of your life
Trying not to cry

So why cant it be, like a photograpgh
The same as it used to with no one to hurt you
With one question whats wrong from right
And as time gets much older and your past gets much
further Away from you than you'd like
Just kneel down and start to cry
