So thats where you said it
You throw it around like you meant it Now i regret it Too soon to realize that She went her way and I went mine
To throw love away is never fine

Cause all i want to do is love but that will never be good enough and all i want to feel whats real but I'm stuck in the middle, stuck in the middle Cause I'm just trying to find my way back through to you
I'm just trying to find my way back through, back to you

I feel like a puzzle piece that is always in the wrong place
I'm asking why did we meet it's hard to breathe in a closing space

Don't leave the engine running if your gonna come inside
I would never hurt you darling why must you run and hide
And throw love away
Don't throw it away now

Cause all i want to do is love
Cause I'm just trying to find my way back through to
you
I'm just trying to find my way back through, back to you

So come on come on get close to me one more time cause this might be be a soundtrack to a memory just don't give it up so easily now

Cause all i want to do is love
Cause I'm just trying to find my way back through to
you
I'm just trying to find my way back through, back to you
