Seconds before the end
The final moment is ours to make
If it matters
This is the time, or it'll be too late

In present tense Attack or defense

None of us are heroes, we just sing their songs
I wish you would fight for me, I wish you were strong

Just a first attempt No second chances will come our way
It requires bravery
More than any of us can say

In present tense
Attack or defense

None of us are heroes, we just sing their songs
I wish you would fight for me, I wish you would hold on

None of us are heroes,
we just steal their words I wish you would fight for me, though the idea is cursed

Because none of us are fighters, we just start the fights
And then leave it to ease of,
leave it to die
