So show him what you lose
When you answer "no"
Catch the cold
You sail on your own
We share in the toll
And we're all alone

Reminds me of her groan
You said, 'Forget the night ahead'
She'll never find her on her own
Find her on her own

So tell me if it's wrong then who's to know?
We shared in the toll
We sailed on our own
And she fits the mould

To the one we know
You'll never have some honest fun
You said, 'Lover, be fair'
Throw your ties to the pier
You'll always have your honest one

On the way to Bordeaux
You'll never have some honest fun
Throw your lies to the pier
You said, 'Lover, be fair'
Throw your lies to the pier
You'll always have your honest one
I'll always be your honest one
You'll always have some honest fun

So tell me, do you lose
When you answer no
And catch the cold
You sailed on your own
We shared in the toll
And we're all alone

Find her on her own
Goodbye

Find her on her own
You'll never find her on her own
Find her on her own

She told you to be fair
I only want some honest fun
She said, 'Lover, be fair'
Throw your eyes to the floor
You're looking at the guilty one

So tell me what you know
And then it will be said and done
She said, 'Be gentle, be fair'
Was the fog even there?
You're looking at the guilty one
I only want some honest fun

She told you to be fair
I only want some honest fun
She said, 'Lover, be fair'
Throw your eyes to the floor
You're looking at the guilty one

So tell me what you know
And then it will be said and done
She said, 'Be gentle, be fair'
Was the fog even there?
You're looking at the guilty one
I only want some honest fun
I'll always be your honest one
