And does your fear not grow
When you see that you're all mine
See that you're all mine
With a knife in your chest
With a knife in your chest

And only songs will know
That their lies aren't over
And come over to me
And everybody's armoured

And does your fear not grow
When you see that you're all mine
See that you're all mine
With a knife in your chest
With a knife in your chest

And over shiver they move
When the conversation is slow
And they take back your own time

And only songs will know
That their lies aren't over
They come over to me
And everybody's armoured

And does your fear not grow
When you see that you're all mine
See that you're all mine
With a knife in your chest
With a knife in your chest
