Take me to a place, high above the tide underneath the waves, where i can come inside a reveille, told in fractured time only in this way, will i become alive fill me with your love, i'm standing by you and you alone, don't ask me why there's an inner place, i cannot find so s-o-l, and petrified so, everytime, you blow your mind i wait for you, you never come you're bleeding thru, i must be numb and you are just a dream, i cannot find from under what you see, don't ask me why don't leave it alone, my love, my wreckage i ain't to weak to run, tho slow, i'm coming once i count the numbers down, to the end or there around free or thus, forever bound, for forever's coming down and finally...

fill me with your love, i'm by your side
for you i will be there, i just can't hide from way beyond the glare, i'll tell you why
