Grabbing at sunlight,
that keeps slipping away,
we caught nothing but dust
and golden shadows.

Nothing happened that night,
just the stuff you didn't want.
I still love you,
cry to sleep seeing your photo
fading away by my bedside.

I want it to be better,
to hear you're laugh again.

Want you to tremble underneath
my delicate touch.

We danced under the stars,
screamed in go carts.
That's when you disappeared,
leaving me lonely and broken.

You're my last regret,
Sleeping with the guy
Made me break - down & cry.

Just my last regret.
