

Umbrellas, The "Vampires"

Visit "Vampires" on MotoLyrics.com

Last night we went to a party,
There were a bunch of big names there.
I've been conditioned to sell myself,
Well that's not what this is about.
So I've got one hand on my neck,
To keep all the vampires out.
I'm gonna finish this stiff drink and I'll be on my way home.

No this isn't me, no this isn't you.
It's eat or be eaten,
But I just took one bite.
And that's all it took,
Now write me down in your book.

I say goodnight, I put the keys in the ignition.
I think the entire existence is asleep, it's so quiet.
My headlights dance pictures on the treeline,
As song flows out the window into the fog filled night.
I'm home now, it feels different.
I undress in the dark and find my way to the sheets.
My head is light from what you said,
You were dead right.

Now they're back at my throat and they're thirsty,
I haven't proved anything until I've proved them right.
This apple in my hand, I just took one bite.

No this isn't me, no this isn't you.
It's eat or be eaten,
But I just took one bite.
And that's all it took,
Now write me down in your book.

Visit Umbrellas, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.