Baritone Street : like to tell a thousand stories but that would be a thousand lies so i'll just try to make another statement before you break right through the ice i guess that life has been too easy well, that isn't hard to tell when all you care about is reputation and you try to live up to somebody else but don't you think that it's a pity well, you know i'm sorry too that your face is no longer pretty when truth comes down to someone like you but don't you know the world's still waiting for you to make a move

let's not talk about class cause that is something to forget well, i'm not living in the past but i tell you i'm not a cigarette and so you think you've got it made that's really hard for me to understand don't try to solve another problem just save it right until the end

well, i'd really like to see what you can do cause something inside that was always denied and you couldn't swallow your pride and now you've got nowhere to hide i'm not talking about my dreams and i'm not talking about a different song cause there were so many oppurtunities and you're the one who's got it wrong well maybe i could be your mirror and maybe i could be a fool you know it doesn't really matter cause i've got no one left to screw

but don't you think that it's a pity
that faces ain't no longer pretty
like you
